About measures in response to the new coronavirus

Thank you for your ongoing support of guntû. As of February 5th, 2020, there are no changes to future operations as a result of the new coronavirus originating in Wuhan.

<Dear passengers>

During the check-in procedure at Bella Vista Marina, we ask every passenger to submit a health declaration card and consent to a check of their health condition such as taking body temperature. Passengers who have traveled to mainland China during the 14 days prior to the date of embarkation will be unable to board guntû. * For those who are infected with the new coronavirus, we will refund the tour fee after submittal of a medical certificate from a medical institution.

Ground staff and ship crew may wear masks to reassure passengers using our services. These measures will help reduce the potential for the virus to spread, and will ensure the health of our guests and crew. We thank everyone for their patience and understanding.

If you have any questions, please contact us.
